I have been teaching at King's College for 8 years after moving up from Palmerston North.

On arriving in Auckland I was going to get involved in building and have built 2 houses so far. I also enjoy being around the sea and thoroughly enjoy being involved with the Sailing group.

One activity I can do is cycle so this is how I keep fit. My wife and I cycled from Cape Reinga to Wellington three years ago which was a good challenge and I get out on a bike whenever possible.

Travelling is also something we enjoy and have traveled in most continents.

Since taking on the role as HOD Learning Support, I have learnt and been fascinated by dyslexia and learning differences/ styles. All students have abilities and they have to be supported in finding the direction and career that they will be most successful in.
